

Are We Doomed to Repeat the Past?

In the earliest years of the expansion of the Church, as the apostles traveled throughout the Roman Empire and beyond, the churches in different cities required guidance. Many of the letters written by Paul and some of the other apostles are now known as the epistles in the New Testament. These letters were often written to challenge the believers in a specific city in areas where they were failing to emulate Christ and live out the true Gospel. They called out sin, defined holiness, and edified believers to encourage the necessary change for those cities to obey God.

Many have wondered about what a letter to the American Church of today would be like as the nation has drifted so far from its original call. Ultimately, it seems that the responsibility of the American Church should be to lead the nation in righteousness and liberty. Sadly, many churches have fallen asleep.

In this briefing we will discuss the following:

- » How Bad Can It Get?
- » Letter to the American Church – The Wake-Up Call
- » Discipling Nations – Leading Nations Out of Idolatry and Into Blessing

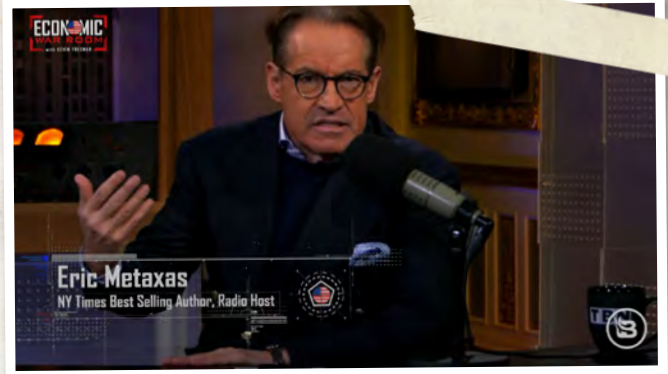

YOUR MISSION: Learn about the great evil that is growing in our nation and threatens to destroy us, and what you can do to save America and turn the nation back to God.

 ATTENTION: America is under attack, and many of the watchmen on her walls, the Church, have fallen asleep.

1. How Bad Can It Get?

At the end of World War II, Europe was left devastated. While American soldiers returned home to their families, houses, cars, etc. most Europeans had experienced incredible losses of wealth, property, and opportunity. Those who grew up during the war and saw the aftermath experienced some of the hardest times in human history.

Going through such difficulty produced in them an understanding of evil that many of us have never experienced before.

“My dad was a hero. He was somebody that taught me to hate communism and to love America. He experienced the tremendous deprivations of World War II. He saw the Italians and the Germans occupy Cephalonia. That’s the part of Greece, where my family’s been from. And he taught me what it is to work hard to sacrifice for your family. He was a deeply good man. And I rejoice that I know where he is. We are not without hope. He is with Jesus, and it weren’t for that, I’d be pretty broken up. But my father, communicated to me, as I mentioned before, a hatred of communism, and a love of freedom and a love of this country... I know that any good thing that I am today is a result of my dad.” –Eric Metaxas

Eric Metaxas shared the beautiful story of his upbringing and how his father, who recently went to be with the Lord, inspired him to be a man of faith who valued the goodness of America.

As Eric points out, goodness is hard to see and value when you have not seen the disastrous pain caused by evil.

Looking back, we know how bad things got. As Eric explains “The death camps are one of the most satanic things that ever happened on planet Earth.”

Most people today still can't comprehend the evil that tricked an entire nation of sophisticated Germans, many of whom were Christian believers, into massacring millions of people.

Most Americans have not witnessed evil in power for most of their lives. Some have begun to see it with the onset of Covid and the political abuse of the judicial system, but many are still blinded by the comfort and ease of life in prosperity.

“My mom and dad grew up in Europe during the war and after the war, they experienced real hardship and hunger... I think a lot of the kids that I grew up with in America, their parents hadn't really been through that. If you'd been through the depression, maybe. But I think that when you're really blessed, the temptation is to think, “oh, this is normal.” Not to understand that we're blessed to be a blessing. Being blessed is not normal. It's a gift from God. I think that what has happened with our generation is that we grew up with such prosperity. We forgot that there was this thing called evil... My mother grew up in Nazi Germany, which then became East Germany, where her family was under Stalin and the Soviet bloc. My father grew up in Greece, which the communists tried to take over. They experienced evil. They saw hunger. They saw terrible things. And that changes your perspective.” –Eric Metaxas

Much of America has been incredibly blessed not to have faced such difficulty and evil within the nation to the same degree as the rest of the world encountered during the 20th century. However, entering the 21st century it is clear that evil is not dead, but has instead been working in the shadows to regain its power.

During World War II it was the Church that enjoyed victory in both Britain and America. However, it was also the Church that failed in Germany. It is wonderful to learn from the successes of the Western Church and to be proud of those victories... but it is essential to study the failures of the Church so that we would not repeat them again.

Attention: Much of America was blessed to avoid evil during the 20th century but now that evil seeks to destroy America from within and the spiritual defenders of the nation are often unaware.

2. Letter to the American Church – The Wake-Up Call

It is easy to look at Nazi Germany and demonize the enemy soldiers and citizens, but in reality, Germany was considered a civilized, Christianized society.

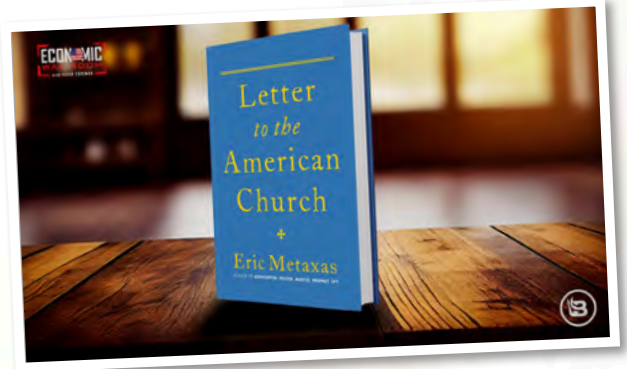

How could a nation that has produced the majority of Western theology fall from such incredible heights to what may have become the most evil place any nation has ever been?

This is the true question that must be asked at a personal level. How could so many believers be so deceived, and how could the Church not see the evil rising within their nation? Most importantly, with those questions answered, what must we do today to prevent such evil from ever returning to the Earth?

“I believe that things getting really, really, really bad is God’s mercy to us now to wake up those who can be awakened. It’s why I wrote my book, Letter to the American Church, and why I’m going around the country saying to people, ‘okay, you get it now you need to wake up. You’ve been sleeping. You need to wake up. You need to go to war against evil, in every way. You need to stop pretending like, 'That's not my job.' If you do, nothing, evil will take over, just as it did in Nazi Germany. And that's the parallel in the book. Letter to the American Church is that the German church did not understand how bad things could be. They were spoiled, just as we in the American church have become spoiled. And I believe it is God's mercy waking us up right now." –Eric Metaxas

There were some who saw the evil rising in Germany, Dietrich Bonhoeffer is likely the most famous believer who called out the rising evil and gave his life resisting the Nazi regime.

Sadly, his warnings were not heard by the church of his time, and millions paid the price for their slumber.

“One of the parallels that most people don't recall is the failure, the inflation, and the failure of the currency in Weimar Germany that led to the rise of Hitler. And I believe that's what the Great Reset is all about. This expectation of a worldwide economic difficulty that will allow them to come to power, just as Adolf Hitler came to power in the 1930s.” –Kevin Freeman

A major reason people were willing to submit to the Nazi regime was money. The Church truly believed that protecting economic benefits might outweigh the potential evils.

They were blinded by idolatry, valuing money more than God and riches more than righteousness.

“They had a bastardized view of the scriptural view with regard to politics. They cherry-picked Romans 13, declaring, ‘That settles it.’ That does not settle it. There’s a whole Bible, that I mean, the book of Esther is about Mordecai saying, ‘Okay, government what you’re telling me to do, I refuse to do it.’ There’s all kinds of examples in Scripture where people of faith are not supposed to do what the government says in certain circumstances. Bonhoeffer was trying to get the church to wake up and to see that. And basically, they took a pass. Some people out and out refused. Other people said, no, we’ll wait. We’ll see how it goes. By the time they saw how bad it was getting, it was too late. And that, to me is the parallel to the American church today, that today Bonhoeffer would say the same thing that he was saying. It’s why in my book I quote him like crazy in Letter to the American Church, Bonhoeffer was simply saying what the Bible says.” –Eric Metaxas

Bonhoeffer’s message was simply to remind the Church of its vital role in the policies of nations. The Church is never to sit idly by as evil plunders the world, instead, the Church was raised up to be a militant force against evil.

The Church is directly responsible for the protection of people and the victory over evil in the Earth. In Christ, the Church is empowered to resist the devil and he will flee.

Instead, the Church has ignored the warning signs of a growing evil and has chosen comfort over combat.

Bonhoeffer attempted to wake the Church of his time, but they resisted him and said they did not want to get political. The parallels to the American Church of today are uncanny, but not surprising.

“A few years ago, I wouldn’t have seen it. But with the Biden administration coming in, it looks to me like they stole the election. It looks to me like they’re working overtime to destroy the America that the founders gave us. Things are so bad wherever you look, like an open border. The insanity of an open border, the insanity of cultural Marxists, trying to defund the police, the insanity of a two-tiered justice system. I mean, everywhere you look, if you have eyes to see, you say “You know what? I didn’t know it could get this bad”. And by the way, this is just a foretaste of how bad it’s going to get if the church doesn’t wake up.” –Eric Metaxas

God has allowed us a taste of the coming evil so that we might wake up and resist it before it is too late.

The German people were not all evil, they were not all Pro-Nazi, they were simply fooled into contentment and slumber and the devil took advantage of their ignorance.

Granted that the American Church does not hear the alarm and take heed the warnings presented by prophetic voices like Eric, the same fate shall befall the American church as it sleeps through the alarms and eventually wakes up far too late.

“I write it in the book, Letter to the American Church. And it’s coming out as a film any day on Epoch TV. This is important. I say, “This is the hour of the American Church.” God is calling His people to stand. And you know what? If your neighbor doesn’t stand, it doesn’t matter. Make sure you stand. If you do not stand, if you do not fight, you are guilty. If you do nothing. You are the devil’s kind of Christian... We are in a spiritual war. Everybody needs to understand- God is looking at you. You are the church. You need to step up. So that’s why I wrote Letter to the American Church, and that’s why it’s coming out as a documentary on February 8, 2024.” –Eric Metaxas

It is easy to look at World War II history and see ourselves as the heroes liberating the enslaved and marching into Germany and Austria. It is much harder, and much more important to imagine ourselves in the shoes of an ordinary German civilian who did not resist the rise of Hitler.

We cannot allow ourselves to be deceived into thinking we are above such evil and that we cannot be tricked by the devil into sitting by and watching as evil gains power.

Attention: The American Church will be held responsible for American Morality. If the nation is to win a spiritual war, it is the Church that must stand to fight and lead the nation to righteousness and liberty.

3. Discipling Nations – Leading Nations Out of Idolatry and Into Blessing

Jesus gave two very clear commandments, and they parallel the first commands God ever gave in the Garden of Eden.

In the Garden, Adam and Eve were told to be fruitful and multiply and subdue the Earth. The commands are simple, expand our family and ensure his words are followed throughout the lands of the Earth.

Jesus' commands were to preach the Gospel to all creation and to make disciples of nations. In other words, expand our family and ensure my words are obeyed throughout the lands of the Earth.

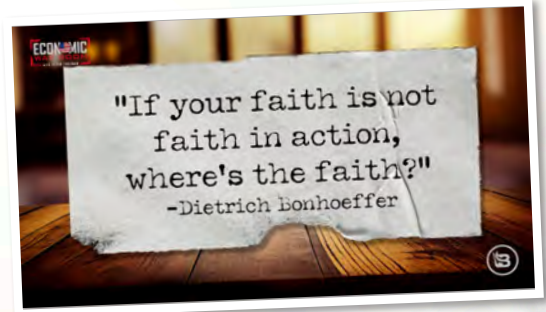

Sadly, many Western churches have focused on the preaching of the gospel but have forsaken the discipling of nations. This means there is a massive family, but the words of God are not being obeyed and the nations are falling into idolatry and curses.

“If you were alive in the time of Wilberforce and you were a Christian, you would have kept your mouth shut about the satanic abomination of the slave trade. What kind of an indifferent, selfish monster could you be if you would not speak against the slave trade if you were alive in the middle of the 19th century in the United States of America? And you don't speak against slavery, you say, well, I don't want to take sides. I mean, if you were a slave in America and your family is being sold away from you, wouldn't you want some Christians to speak up? So, this idea that Christians aren't supposed to be political is a lie from the pit of hell, and it is being preached from many, many pulpits. If you're going to a church, where they are preaching this lie, you need to get out of that church.” –Eric Metaxas

The lie that the Church should not influence politics is viciously dangerous and incredibly discreet. It sounds clever and kind, but in reality, it is a door for wickedness to enter unchallenged.

The Churches that have refused to be active in their faith and disciple nations have already ceded their power to the devil and evil people. They have allowed evil to disciple the nation as they are unwilling to do so.

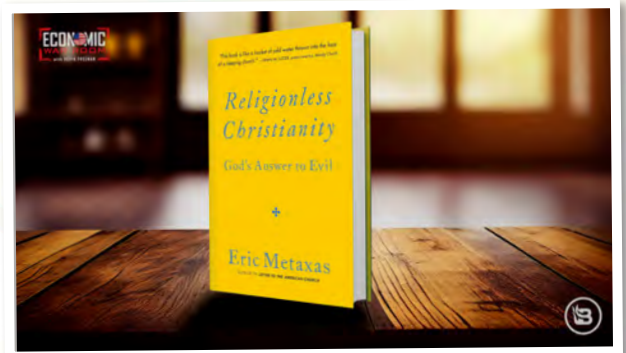

Woe to the churches that slumber and refuse to wake up. Cursed like the fig tree, they shall bear no fruit. Eric continues to state, “If you are serious about your own salvation, your faith needs to be faith in action.”

In the book of James, it says “faith without works is dead.” To say you believe in Jesus is simply irrelevant, “Even the demons believe, and shudder.” Eric shares a powerful point that should concern many: “Don’t think you are saved if you’re not living it out. That proves what the Scripture says: That you actually don’t have faith, which should scare people into thinking about what they actually believe.”

“If the church is not the church, if the church doesn’t do what God calls the church to do, all of these evil things will happen. I have a new book coming out in April called Religionless Christianity, which is a phrase of Bonhoeffer’s. If we don’t live out our faith genuinely, as Bonhoeffer was exhorting the church to do in the 30s in Germany, and they did not, the evil that will come is inevitable.

But if we live out our faith, if we do everything we can, and ask God to lead us and give us the courage to do these things, we cannot imagine what God can do. Imagine what would have happened if the church in Germany had stood heroically against the satanic evil of the Nazis... the reason we made a Letter to the American Church into a documentary film... which will be out on Epoch TV on February 8th... is because we want as many people as possible to see this and to get activated.” –Eric Metaxas

The American Church in a season of opportunity. Heroes are not made because they have no fear, they are made because in the midst of fear, they choose faith and stand up to the evil threat.

This generation has the opportunity to be remembered throughout history as the generation that prevented tragedy, prevented, tyranny, and built a bright and beautiful future for America and the world.

This can only be done if the American Church wakes up and leads the charge.

“If the American church does not wake up, it’s over. And many people listening right now, you’re the American church. It’s not that building. It’s not that organization. You! If you dare to claim to believe in Jesus, you are the church. And God is looking to you precisely as he was looking to the Christians in Germany in the 30s. They said, ‘no, thank you.’ And we see what happened... God has appointed us this time to see the parallels, to see what happened, with Bonhoeffer, to see what happened in Germany, to wake up the American church, because it’s God’s plan that America not go the way that Germany went. It’s God’s plan that the American church not continue to be silent. If enough would wake up... We could turn things around. I believe God wants to save America for His purposes, not for us. For His purposes in the world.” –Eric Metaxas

God has great things in mind for the world. Even as we look at scripture about the Second Coming, God intends to make the world in incredible place that is filled with His presence and the beauty of a united Church obeying His words.

Right now, as the American Church, we have the opportunity to rise up and fight for righteousness, to resist the rising evil, and to keep the demonic powers at bay.

Attention: WAKE UP! “Awake, O sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will shine on you.” This is the hour where the American Church can take charge of her duties and save the world from encroaching evil.
