

Silence Equals Consent

Christianity played a pivotal role in the founding and preservation of our nation. America's historical socio-political landscape was always marked by a Judeo-Christian worldview that afforded each man certain unalienable rights granted to them by the Creator. The moral compass that guided the heroes of our nation's past has too often been ignored in the modern age. As a nation, we face the erosion of our moral and civic freedoms.

Our mission of safeguarding liberty and upholding our nation's founding ideals necessitates a deep understanding of our history (past) and the active role (present) we must play in shaping our nation's future. The first step to solving a problem is recognizing there is one. The second is to understand the problem in context. America's noble heritage, the misconceptions surrounding Christian nationalism, and the crucial role of active civic engagement by Christians are critical topics of study for any American patriot wishing to see liberty preserved for future generations.

In this briefing we will discuss the following:

- » A Brief History of Government
- » Nationalism vs. Globalism
- » Silence Equals Consent – Christian Responsibility

YOUR MISSION: Learn about the history of government and what makes the American experiment different. Leverage this historical wisdom and take up civic responsibility to strengthen the moral and constitutional foundations of America. By understanding our unique heritage and the roles we must play now, we can ensure the continued triumph of liberty and justice for all.

⚠ ATTENTION: America was once a moral nation but cultural decay has set in and the values that once made our nation a beacon of hope to the world are slowly slipping from our grasp.

WHY YOU SHOULD CARE:

- » The American experiment has proven to the world the effect of Christian values and the impact such a worldview can have on a nation once adopted.
- » The decline of American culture and the desecration of our nation comes due to the lack of involvement of moral people in the shaping of culture and policy.
- » Christian nationalism, or patriotism, was once the standard of the US and it made our nation great.
- » A return to Christian patriotism will require the Church to take responsibility for the world around it and return to involvement in culture and policy reform.
- » The Church's silence has been consent for evil to shape culture and policy.

Ep. 8-297 (OSINT) Open-Sourced Intelligence Report. This briefing includes a conversation between Kevin Freeman and William J. Federer. Bill is a friend of the Economic War Room® and an American Patriot

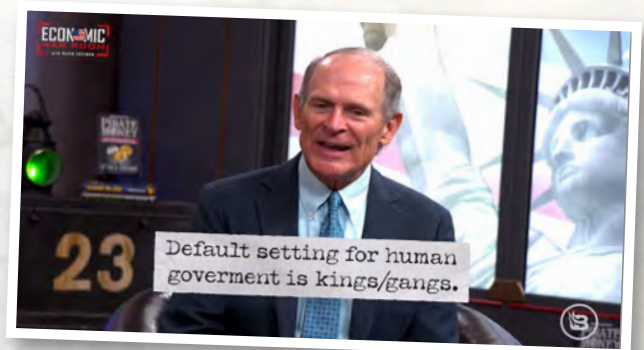

William J. Federer is a nationally known speaker, a best selling author, and president of AmeriSearch, Inc. that's a publishing company dedicated to researching America's noble heritage. Bill's American Minute Radio feature is broadcast daily across America and on the internet. His faith in History television has aired on the TCT network, on stations across America, and via direct TV. He's the author of at least two dozen books, a frequent guest on television and radio, and former congressional candidate. And he's well known for his inspirational true stories from history.

1. A Brief History of Government

Historically, most government forms have resembled gangs, ruled by a king or a dominant leader.

“The default setting for human government is gangs. A gang leader with enough weapons we call a king... With the latest military advancements, kings can kill more people. So instead of Cain killing Abel with a rock, people could kill with the bronze weapon, iron weapon, phalanx spear, scimitar sword, gunpowder, directed energy weapons. Right? The weapon improves, but it's that same fallen nature.” –William J. Federer

For example, Nimrod's rule and the Tower of Babel represent the earliest attempt at centralized one-world governance.

The Babylonian, Persian, Roman, Napoleonic, and British empires all sought to build their power and wealth to a level never seen before. The goal, at the heart of each tyrannical ruler was global domination.

This style of government crushed the hope of the people, forcing the vulnerable into submission and granting power to the wicked and crafty.

America reversed this top-down governance model, establishing a bottom-up, people-driven system based on the biblical pre-monarchical period, where everyone was taught the law and held accountable to God.

In the earliest days of the American Colonies, Christian settlers developed meeting houses, which were places of worship and town halls.

Any new laws to be instituted would be discussed by the people and would require the approval of the people. When British loyalists and soldiers arrived to enforce British law, this naturally frustrated the Crown and the governors he sent to enforce British rule.

“Romans 13 is understood differently in a monarchy versus a republic. In a monarchy, subjects submit to the king. In a republic, the citizens are the king. The politicians are your servants. You hire them; you fire them. It'd be silly for a king to have to obey his janitor.” –William J. Federer

America's foundation was a radical departure from monarchies; it was based on the people being sovereign—citizens as co-rulers. This early concept for colonial Christians became the cornerstone of the Constitution.

The word citizen is Greek. It means co-ruler or co-sovereign. In a sense, in the American model of governance, the people are all equally responsible to uphold and obey the law.

⚠ Attention: The American experiment is a government designed to be ruled by the people, to serve the people, and to protect the people from any tyrannical ruler, foreign or domestic.

2. Nationalism vs. Globalism

According to Heidi Przybyla, a reporter for Politico, “Christian nationalists... believe that our rights as Americans, as all human beings, don’t come from any earthly authority. They don’t come from Congress, they don’t come from the Supreme Court. They come from God.”

This statement was made as a warning, considering Christian Nationalism to be a threat.

How can agreeing with the Declaration of Independence be a threat to the American Republic?

It is not. It is, however, a threat to the globalist regime that seeks to gain control of the entire world.

“Nationalism is the opposite of globalism. There are people who are globalists, and one of them was the first director of the World Health Organization. Maybe you’ve heard of the World Health Organization. First director was Brock Chisholm. And (Kevin) you shared this quote, I think is probably the first place I heard it. He said, to achieve world government, it is necessary to remove from the minds of men their national patriotism. Right? So if you want to have a globalist, you’ve got to get people to stop identifying with their nation. And so, these globalists want to deride and malign anybody that wants to preserve their nation.” –William J Federer

Nationalism promotes the individual rights embedded in our nation’s founding principles, as opposed to the collective control advocated by globalist agendas.

Instead of a pejorative, Christian nationalism should be understood as being the same as the Christian patriotism that made our nation great.

Christian Patriotism has historically been supported by leaders across political lines as presidents from both parties spoke on the importance of Christianity in the American conscience.

“Christian nationalism used to be called Christian patriotism. And every president, Democrat and Republican, was in favor of it. In Lincoln’s inaugural address, he said intelligence, patriotism, Christianity.... He mentions patriotism and Christianity right next to each other... And then you have Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat president, who gives out Gideon’s New Testament and Book of Psalms to all the soldiers in World War Two. He wrote the foreword. Could you imagine the president writing a foreword to a Bible? And he says, as commander in chief, I take pleasure in commending the reading of the Bible to all who serve in the armed forces.” –Bill Federer

The intentional misrepresentation and malignment as ‘Christian nationalism’ is a direct, un-American attack on the moral worldview that made America a beacon of hope to people around the world.

Attention: Christian nationalism should be a badge of honor, representing the generations of heroic men and women who made the greatest sacrifices to ensure the liberty of others would be preserved.

3. Silence Equals Consent – Christian Responsibility

How did our nation fall so far that the people in power are able to malign the very values the nation was built upon?

Just as silence at a wedding implies consent, remaining silent on moral and civic matters allows evil to prosper. Proverbs 24 and Acts 22 emphasize the dire consequences of not taking a stand.

Martin Niemoeller, a Lutheran pastor in Nazi Germany, famously stated:

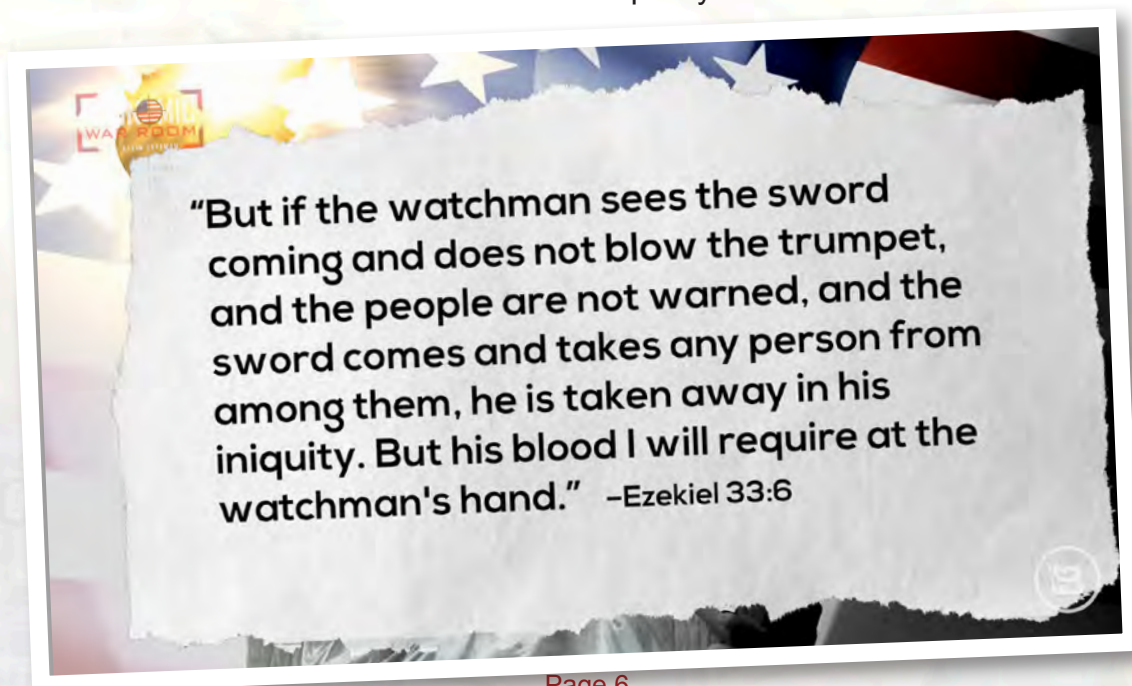

“First they came for the socialists, and I did not speak out—because I was not a socialist. Then they came for the trade unionists, and I did not speak out—because I was not a trade unionist. Then they came for the Jews, and I did not speak out—because I was not a Jew. Then they came for me—and there was no one left to speak for me.”

Silence in the face of evil or injustices equates to consent, particularly highlighted by the silence of many Christians on political and social issues.

It is the role of the Church to ensure that morality is front and center in a nation’s government, especially when the government is one “of the people, by the people, and for the people.”

The two waves of pastors and churches that founded America played critical roles in shaping the nation’s early government. The first wave, Puritans, established a covenant form of governance that shaped the perspective of the framers of the Constitution.

Today, areas with high Christian populations unfortunately show low voter turnout. The Church has abdicated its responsibility to govern the land justly and has instead allowed wickedness to thrive and dominate culture and policy.

Our heritage as American patriots, rooted in Christian values, demands active engagement and unyielding dedication to liberty and justice.

It is every American's personal responsibility to ensure America remains a bastion of freedom and justice, guided by the principles upon which it was founded.

By understanding the lessons from history and taking practical steps to involve ourselves in the civic process, we protect the freedoms and moral fabric that define our nation.

Let us take these lessons to heart, actively engage in our nation's governance, and inspire others to stand firm for our shared values and liberties.

Attention: Silence in the face of evil equals consent. Your voice and actions are crucial in this ongoing battle for America's soul.
