

Background Briefing: China is constantly in the news. At times they are referred to as a key US trading partner, an adversary, or even an enemy. To get a perspective on how China is actually operating, it is important to understand their history, culture, and what they may be really thinking. As you better understand their tactics, it brings an entirely new perspective to the trade war, IP theft, and the cultural influence that they are attempting to use. Their global economic warfare stance has serious implications for US economic liberty.

America is at a crossroads. We can continue to help prop up the Chinese communist regime or take the opportunity to create more freedom for the Chinese people and America's future.

Your Mission: To understand the real Economic War that exists with China and what it means to your freedoms and even your pocketbook. China's economy may not be as strong as some market perceptions. It is time for America to stand for economic liberty over short term profits or cheaper goods from a ruthless challenger.

(OSINT) - Open Sourced Intelligence Briefing

Open Sourced Intelligence Briefing with highlights. This includes quotes and summaries of conversations in the Economic War Room with Kevin Freeman and Gordon Chang. Gordon is one of America's foremost China experts, a best-selling author and Daily Beast columnist. He lived and worked in mainland China and Hong Kong for nearly two decades.

"The American public doesn't really understand that over the last 70 years this has been a communist state. Under Xi, they are going back to totalitarianism, squelching individual freedoms and eliminating reforms."

— Kevin Freeman, CFA

1. Today's China should be viewed as more an adversary than an investment opportunity. We have rescued communist China multiple times hoping for reform that always disappears.
 - In 1972 China was in a civil war, and we rescued communism when Nixon went to China. His American commitment gave authority to the Chinese communist system. It was an interesting anti-Soviet ploy but strengthened communism in China.
 - In 1999 under the Clinton administration, we rescued Chinese communism again, entering an agreement that allowed China into the World Trade Organization in 2001.
 - » Prior to this event the Chinese economy was in trouble.
 - » Foreign investors were shunning China.
 - » Giving China a platform at the WTO helped rescue them.
 - China is again at a critical point with their economy today. Despite enormous growth over the past two decades (built in part on IP theft and false promises), the economy is weakening, and debt is overstretched. Does the US rescue communism again?

"I hope we do not rescue China again with a trade deal."

Unrestricted Warfare

"Last December you had senior Chinese military officers in public urge unprovoked attacks on the U.S. Navy on the global commons. In the second of those outbursts, a Chinese Rear Admiral actually advocated sinking two aircraft carriers and killing ten thousand Americans." —Gordon Chang

2. An insider's view of China – China is not our friend.

"There's been a mass infiltration into our education system that is giving us a benign view of the Communist Party of China. It frightens me to see people talking about how President Trump is wrong. They claim China is our friend. The evidence proves otherwise." —Kevin Freeman

Unrestricted Warfare Defined (Wikipedia) - Unrestricted Warfare (超限战, literally "warfare beyond bounds") is a book on military strategy written in 1999 by two colonels in the People's Liberation Army. Its primary concern is how a nation such as China can defeat a technologically superior opponent (such as the United States) through a variety of means. Rather than focusing on direct military confrontation, this book instead examines a variety of other means. Such means include using International Law (see Lawfare) and a variety of economic means to place one's opponent in a bad position and circumvent the need for direct military action.[1] "Managing China's transition." David A Adams. United States Naval Institute. Proceedings. Annapolis: Jul 2003. Vol.129, Iss. 7; pg. 50 Source type: Periodical ISSN 0041-798X ProQuest document ID: 370666521 Text Word Count 2870

- Unrestricted Warfare and includes the techniques China will use to take down a super power. Those include:
 - » spying,
 - » intellectual property theft,
 - » hacking,
 - » offering "open markets" to steal technology,
 - » accessing Western capital,
 - » infiltrating our education system, and
 - » infiltrating Hollywood.

You can learn more about this in Kevin Freeman's books Secret Weapon and Game Plan, or his blog www.GlobalEconomicWarfare.com.

"This is a broad-based attack on the US society. And it's not just our society. It's all free societies. So, the challenge is of course military, diplomatic, economic, and ideological. Ideological is important because our democracy is under attack."

—Gordon Chang

Make no mistake, China is still ruthless to some, but has been working to shift public perceptions to its citizens and others.

- Almost every day you see the People's Daily or some other propaganda outlet trying to undermine the faith in democracy and representative governance.
- This is the 30th year of Tiananmen Square and the atrocity has been scrubbed from history.
- Deng Xiaoping wanted to teach the Chinese people a lesson and was willing to kill in great numbers to stay in power.
- His three successors have taken the opposite tack. They have been so embarrassed they have tried to scrub the lessons from the history books so that the rest of the Chinese people know little about it.
- Today, the Chinese people see the communist party as a little more benign and are less afraid of it.

"Trump has done something which is really important and that has changed the narrative about China. This has occurred in part because the Chinese have become more hostile and belligerent. They've pushed all elements in the US political system and spectrum to a much more questioning attitude about China. But President Trump has certainly led this, and he has policies which are not China friendly. We've rescued Chinese communism so many times over the last four decades. We've had many presidents who have put the interests of the Chinese Communist Party ahead of those of American workers and businesses." —Gordon Chang

3. China uses their economic capabilities to buy influence. Recently, former V.P. Joe Biden stated he did not even see China as a competitor.

A. Buying Influence in DC:

- They are buying influence in the US government through lobbyists and politicians.
- Joe Biden's son has interests in China and was offered a $1.5 billion deal after making a trip to China with his Father.
- Previous congressional committees called out China's foreign infiltration. The Chinese were literally colluding to get Bill Clinton reelected in 1996. The DNC had to send the money back when they were caught, and people actually went to jail.

B. Buying Influence with The Belt and Road Initiative

- There is a Latin America Belt and a Polar Silk Road in addition to the primary Belt and Road initiative.
- The Chinese also announced a digital silk road for 5G and the Internet of Things.
- The idea is to connect the world to China through transportation links. They have been extending money like there's no tomorrow. They've been debt-trapping countries by lending at extremely high rates and then repossessing ports and other infrastructure.
- This is a real attempt on the part of Xi Jinping to connect the world to China and make China the pre-eminent power.

Lessons in History – The China Empire

“The pretense of Chinese emperors is that they ruled all under heaven. The idea is that all humanity was once united under a Chinese emperor.” –Gordon Chang

Xi Jinping has been using language from the Imperial era in his pronouncements for more than a decade, even before he became China’s ruler. What this illustrates is the breadth of China’s ambitions. In 2017 Wang Yi who is the foreign minister wrote an article that said Xi Jinping’s thoughts on diplomacy replaced and transcended Western international relations. Thinking of the past 300 years, you take 2017 and subtract three hundred years you almost get to 1648 which is the Treaty of Westphalia, which is the foundation of the world’s international system of competing sovereign states. When Wang Yi talked about how Xi Jinping was transcending the Westphalian system, it becomes clear that he believes that China is the world’s only sovereign state and he is the world’s only legitimate ruler.

“Xi Jinping has de-institutionalized the party. He’s gotten rid of those rules and norms and the rest of it. Essentially, we’re back to a ruthless society. This was highlighted for a lot of people when China amended its constitution to remove the two five-year term limits for the state presidency, which is the least important of Xi Jinping post. But the point is right now there are no rules and that has enormous consequences for the way China governs itself and the way China deals with us.” –Gordon Chang

4. China is committing crimes against humanity as we invest in them.

- The Chinese government has placed more than a million Muslim Uighurs in concentration camps in the northwestern part of the country.
- Concentration camps are starting to be built in Tibet in China’s southwest. And we shouldn’t be surprised that all of these camps will start to show up in other parts of the country as well.
- In these camps workers are being killed. We know that because China’s also building crematoria to dispose of the corpses.

- The Chinese are also using these concentration camps for live-organ harvesting to support a multi-billion-dollar transplant tourism industry. People are being kept alive solely to harvest their organs in one of the greatest atrocities of history.
- This is not Third Reich, gas-chamber killing. This is the sort of a slow attempt to get rid of an ethnic and religious minority.
- Christians are also being persecuted. There has been a marked increase in the campaigns against Christianity with the destruction of churches and the persecution and the detention of religious adherents.

5. China claims huge economic growth, but economically things may not be as stated.

- Six percent growth per year claims are not true. A prominent Chinese economist said they would be lucky to grow 1.6 percent. Some even think their economy may contract this year.
- China is creating debt five and a half times faster than their nominal gross domestic product, even if you believe their official claims of GDP.
- The US is growing faster than China and our economy is significantly bigger. The US GDP is $24 trillion compared to China's claims of $13.2 trillion.
- China is limited in their response to the US trade war. The US has had a misguided trade policy for several decades and unwinding it will be painful for us.
- We need to separate from China for the following reasons:
 - China is stealing hundreds of billions of dollars in Intellectual Property.
 - The US is an innovation-based economy and we cannot let this continue to happen. If we do not commercialize our innovation, we do not have an economy.
- We are fighting a trade war that is really an economic war.

"I don't believe this whole notion that China inevitably will become the world's largest economy. Not in our lifetimes, certainly not mine. Not even in yours."

—Gordon Chang

Why You Should Care:

- If China has a philosophy of ruling everything under the heavens what does that really mean to America and our trading partnership?
- Do you want to support economic activity with a country that has no standards for human atrocities?
- As China executes many of the tactics outlined in Unrestricted Warfare, do you really want China as a trading partner?
- Based on political pressure, Chinese lobbyists, money and cronyism, the US politicians may once again attempt to prop up the communist regime.
- America needs to stand strong against economic threats. Being aware of the strategies and tactics to weaken America is key.

In the Economic War Room, we encourage Americans to be the “small ships that make the difference.” You cannot rely on the government or the President to solve your problems. You have to make a difference. It is up to you to help take our country back.

Economic Patriot Action Plan

Step 1: Support President Trump to persist on trade deals that create fair trade. The American people should stand with him even if there is some small short-term economic pain.

Step 2: We need to protect US intellectual property. This is existential for us because if we give away our economic advantages, if we let our intellectual property continue to be stolen, it will literally put us out of business.

Step 3: Continue to follow up with your representatives as it relates to the importance of the China threat.

Step 4: Share this battle plan with other patriotic Americans and your congressional representatives.

Step 5: Weaponize your money and try to purchase less from China.

Look for ways you can mobilize or weaponize your money toward things that strengthen America. Nominate your financial advisor for our National Security Investment Consultant Institute (NSIC) classes at EconomicWarRoom.com/advisor.

We need more Economic Patriots on the team! Consider what can you do now to help strengthen America or even help someone in need. Keep in touch with your congressional representatives. Choose from the list or set your own goals:

→ Get others to sign up at EconomicWarRoom.com and review our weekly Economic Battle Plans™. Each of these will address critical solutions to the threats highlighted on this briefing.

→ Subscribe to our weekly Economic War Room show on TheBlaze. We need to break the digital ghetto that is limiting free speech regarding truth and liberty.
