He is a constitutional conservative, combat veteran, and former member of the U.S. Congress. In November 2010, West was elected to the United States Congress, representing Florida's 22nd District. As a member of the 112th Congress, he sat on the Small Business and Armed Services Committees. West is the former Executive Director of the National Center for Policy Analysis in Dallas, Texas, and a former Director of the Booker T. Congresswoman Michele Bachmann

In 2000, Bachmann defeated a longtime moderate incumbent for a state senate seat in Minnesota. In 2006, Bachmann entered the race to represent her suburban Minneapolis congressional district. She won 52 percent of the vote, becoming the first Republican woman from Minnesota elected to the House of Representatives. She easily won reelection in 2008 and 2010. She was the first Republican woman from Minnesota elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. Bachmann served as a United States Congresswoman representing Minnesota's 6th District from 2007 to 2015. She quickly became a national figure in the Republican Party and a founding member of the Congressional Tea Party Caucus. In 2011, Bachmann announced her bid for the Republican presidential nomination and ran for president in 2012. She is a highly respected leader who is deeply committed to conservative values in government.

Mike Carter

Mike Carter, co-host of Pirate Money Radio, is a Co-Founder of the NSIC Institute, a producer of the Economic War Room, and a patriot leading state efforts considering transactional gold and silver.

The goal of Pirate Money Radio is to inform and provide economic solutions to listeners, emphasizing the importance of being faithful with money, which includes giving, spending, and investing based on liberty, security, and values (LSV). Each week, Kevin Freeman discusses various economic challenges and aims to help people prepare and protect themselves from potential cyber-attacks, inflation, and other financial crises, offering real-world solutions.

1. From identity politics to policy-focused governance – Lt. Col. Allen West

The use of identity politics in the last few elections has progressively pushed voters away from the democrat party and toward President Donald Trump as Americans are fed up with the racially charged nonsense.

Americans are Americans first, and this election proves it. People of all races and creeds stood together to elect a president who would fight for the best interests of all Americans.

The electorate has moved towards judging candidates on their policies rather than their identity, which could lead to more issue-based political campaigns and governance.

“That’s what you saw last night with the response from the American people. They’re concerned about the issues. They’re not concerned about identity politics... [now] Americans will get the four years that President Trump had given us previously. You will see the economic security, the energy independence...a stronger foreign policy.” –Lt. Col. Allen West

This election represents a powerful mandate for President Trump. With support from a Republican House and Senate, the new administration has the opportunity to address key issues that resonate with the American public.

National security, energy independence, and economic security are areas that demand immediate attention, underscoring the importance of bolstering America’s position on the global stage.

Attention: The 2024 election marks a pivotal moment where voters prioritized policy over identity politics, setting the tone that national security and economic resilience must be top priorities for the new administration.

2. Election Integrity and Future Policy – Congresswoman Michele Bachmann

After the 2020 election, there has been a massive erosion of trust in the election process.

This trust can only be restored through robust reforms that include standardized voter identification, citizenship verification, and streamlined election procedures.

The American people have made their demands clear. They want a concerted effort to strengthen election integrity that prioritizes transparency and accuracy to maintain our nation's democratic values.

“We’ve got to build up all 50 state Republican parties...and aggressively fight back on election integrity... We’ve got to go back to the nation that we used to be on elections, and we’ve got to get it right.”

–Congresswoman Michele Bachmann

There is a great need for robust election laws to prevent the kind of election discrepancies seen in 2020. The vigilance of the republican poll workers ensured this election was more honest, but this is not enough.

True reform will require federal mandates on election conduct, which could streamline voting processes and increase public confidence in electoral outcomes.

⚠ Attention: Addressing election integrity is essential for preserving democracy.

3. Economic Strategies Post-Election – Mike Carter

This election was not only a Trump victory, but a Republican victory as the House, Senate, Governors, and many state legislatures saw massive Republican victories.

With this red wave victory establishing liberty-minded leadership across the nation, now is the opportune time for states to reclaim their rightful place.

“You create change exactly by what happened on this election, by working together, standing together, creating one voice and all of us doing our part, and then getting more and more out of this bureaucratic system in DC and back to the state level. And so much of what we’re working on with Pirate Money, with transactional gold and silver, is a state-based solution.” –Mike Carter

The Constitution grants states more powers than the federal government, yet the Federal Reserve has controlled and manipulated our currency for the last century.

“Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution says gold and silver coins are the only legal tender that states can recognize. Now, if you add modern technology, you throw a debit card on your gold and silver coins so you can spend them electronically in the modern economy. You can walk into a coffee shop and buy a cup of coffee with a fraction of an ounce of gold.” –Kevin Freeman

State-based gold and silver currency would provide Americans with financial autonomy. This would shield citizens from federal overreach and economic issues like inflation.

This approach could foster a more decentralized financial system, offering citizens alternatives to traditional currency.

Economic empowerment through state-based gold and silver currency could redefine financial security and autonomy.

 Attention: The 2024 election has set a new course for American politics, emphasizing policy substance over political identity, advocating for election integrity, and exploring decentralized economic solutions.
